PRINCETON — With much excitement, Community Options Enterprises recently opened the newest Daily Plan It (DPI), the second location in Princeton. The space features 12 luxury offices to rent and support up to 8 people with disabilities.

The Daily Plan It is a complete office, conference and copy center that offers furnished office rental space or virtual tenancy to a variety of businesses. Some of the services provided to the tenants include professional receptionist services, clerical support, high-speed color copying and on-site concierge services including dry cleaning pickup and delivery.

"We are incredibly excited to supplement and enhance The Daily Plan It's offerings in the office and conference center market in the Princeton area. With a state of the art conference room and incredibly high quality office space, the Daily Plan It brand will be able to continue to support the business community with top notch professional services at an affordable cost," said Steven Verba, Managing Director of Community Options Enterprises.

Every year since 1991, Community Options presents a citizen with the Betty Pendler award. This year's recipient is Elaine Katz, the Senior Vice President of Grants and Communications for the Kessler Foundation.

"I am pleased to be recognized by Community Options, which shares the Foundation's commitment to empowering people with disabilities through employment," said Katz. "Betty Pendler – by seeking new ways to improve the lives of individuals and their families – set an example for all of us in the disability community. Her advocacy and dedication made a difference in the lives of so many. It is an honor to share in her legacy."
