PRINCETON, NJ (December 20, 2016) — Effective yesterday, Community Options, a national nonprofit organization dedicated to providing housing and employment support to people with developmental and intellectual disabilities, established offices in their 11th state of service, Utah.

“This is the first step for Community Options to develop supports for people with developmental disabilities in the state of Utah,” said Community Options President & CEO, Robert Stack. “It will mean greater employment and freedom for parents and families who have adults with developmental disabilities in need of employment.”

Community Options was founded in February of 1989 in Bordentown, New Jersey. Community Options also serves Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Kentucky and Arizona. Community Options expanded service to Maryland in June and to Arizona last year.
